

Environmental Policy

Viking Malt is a globally acknowledged malting company that manufactures and sells cereal and pulses products and services of high and consistent quality to the beverage, food and feed industries.

We use only selected agricultural raw materials, and we process them efficiently, sustainably and profitably. We cooperate with our partners to improve the sustainability of our supply chain, including efforts to improve biodiversity. All activities are carried out with respect for the environment.

We work according to a certified environmental system. We identify the significant environmental aspects of our operations. We establish environmental objectives, explore opportunities for improvement and mitigate identified risks. We aim to reduce our greenhouse gas emissions and water usage in production.

We are committed to legislation and official regulations, as well as adopted standards and obligations towards customers. We strive to continuously improve our environmental system and performance. Skilled personnel and professional management of our processes help us to use energy and natural resources more efficiently and to prevent pollution.

We communicate openly relevant environmental information both internally and externally. This Policy is available to any relevant interested parties.
